Issue 24 16 - 22 June 2018

Soaps have certainly come a long way. Twenty years ago, the usually reserved Corrie hit the headlines when it introduced soap's first transsexual character in Hayley Cropper. Of course, Hayley went on to be one of the show's most popular characters ever, with a nation weeping when she passed away in 2014. Back then, a

"Soaps have really come a long way!"

female actress was cast in the role, with producers thinking the public would better accept the character this way. Fast forward to today, and Emmerdale is reintroducing Moira's one-time daughter Hannah, who now identifies as male, and has found a wonderful transgender actor to play the role of Matty in the form of Ash Palmisciano. This story feels very timely, and watching Moira coming to terms with the challenges this seismic change in her family throws up could be the most impactful story of this nature soaps have tackled so far. I can't wait to see it play out.

HOTTEST headlines... /

CORONATION STREET | ITV FRIDAY

Just when Eva thinks she's on the verge of getting her baby back, she's thrown another massive curveball this week – as Johnny declares that he's applying for custody, too!

The truth is well and truly out in the open now that Toyah has come clean to Peter about Susie being Eva and Aidan's child, and it doesn't take long for word to spread around the Street. After Johnny discovers that Eva's been keeping Aidan's little girl from him in the wake of his son's death, he's furious – and announces that he'll do everything in his power to make sure Susie comes to live with the Connors...

"Eva is so ready for a fight – she has already given up on Susie once, and she's not prepared to lose her little girl again," declares star Catherine Tyldesley, who plays the mum. "When Johnny storms into the pub, Eva can tell straight away that he knows the truth – and although she is terrified about how he is going to react, she tells him exactly what has happened and hopes for the best. She wants Susie to know who her father was, and she wants her to know her family and be around the Connors."

While Eva thought that handing over her baby to Toyah and Peter to bring up was the best thing for her, the situation became much more complicated following Aidan's death. Eva struggled with her grief over his suicide, and being parted from their baby was absolute agony for her.

"The moment that Aidan took his own life was a gamechanger – that was when Eva realised the Connors needed to know the truth," shares Catherine. "It was always going to come out, and the chances were that it would be Eva who blew the secret. There was no way she could have carried on – her maternal instinct is way too strong."

Now that everyone knows who Susie's parents really are, Eva hopes the Connors will understand why she lied for so long. However, it soon becomes clear that Johnny's not in a forgiving mood.

He's been devastated by his son's suicide, and the fact that a part of Aidan is living on in little Susie has knocked the grief-stricken father for six. But what's really sad is that Johnny's bid to take Susie away from her biological mother comes just as Eva is finally ready to step up and be a mum to her baby girl.

"Initially, Eva was shocked when Toyah went back on their pact – but at the same time she was super-relieved, as she really wants to be a mum to Susie," explains Cath. "She's lost Aidan, and Susie looks so much like him, so Eva feels the need to be with her little girl constantly. Susie is the last reminder of the man that Eva loved."

Following Johnny's outburst, Eva finds herself opening up to her ex-boyfriend Adam about her secret pregnancy. And although it's a massive shock to the system for him, Adam is surprisingly understanding about the whole situation.

"Eva does genuinely care about Adam," admits Cath.

"She doesn't love him like she did with Aidan, but she has a huge soft spot for him, and he's offering her a shoulder to cry on. At that moment, to have that support is just brilliant for her."

Adam proves to be the ally Eva needs, as Johnny tells her he has spoken to a lawyer and launched custody proceedings – before demanding a DNA test to prove that Susie is actually Aidan's child! Poor Eva is distraught, but Adam has an underhand solution to her problem – and fakes a DNA test stating that he is Susie's biological father, not Aidan! But is Eva desperate enough to go ahead with his cunning plan?

"Eva is completely shocked that Johnny has started custody proceedings, because when they first talk about things, he seems to react quite well," reckons Catherine. "Eva truly believes that everything is going to be okay and he'll be fair – however she's unaware he is hiding this overwhelming anger towards her right now.

"Eva is a fighter, though, and she is ready to play hardball," continues the star. "Eva is her mother's daughter, and she can give as good as she gets, which really surprises Johnny. If it was me, nobody would ever take my child away – I would stop at nothing."

The scene is set for an almighty showdown as both Eva and Johnny battle to bring up Susie. So will Eva go ahead with Adam's crazy DNA plot? And could she live to regret her pact with Toyah if Johnny's lawyers use it against her?

CORONATION STREET | ITV THURSDAY

Are Jenny & Johnny over?

SHE DOESN'T AGREE WITH HIS BID FOR CUSTODY...

Relations between Jenny and Johnny reach an all-time low this week, as she refuses to back his plan to take baby Susie from Eva!

While Johnny is adamant that Eva isn't fit to bring up his granddaughter, Jenny reckons that Susie's place is with her mother. So as the couple go to war over the baby's future, could this be the final nail in the coffin for their marriage?

"Johnny and Jenny's relationship has been on shaky ground since Aidan's death," our cobbles spy reminds us. "Johnny's been so consumed by grief that he's pushed Jenny away completely – and even spent the night with Liz behind her back! Jenny is trying to be there for him, but Johnny has hit the self-destruct button. Their marriage hangs by a thread."

Ironically, Jenny knows exactly what her hubby is going through, having lost a child herself. But Johnny is in such a dark place right now that just being near Jenny is making his skin crawl.

Finding out about Susie should be a happy thing that finally unites the Connors in the wake of Aidan's passing. However, when Jenny refuses to support Johnny's custody battle, her husband threatens to end their marriage!

"Johnny has lost so much already, and the thought of losing Susie as well is too much to bear," sighs our mole. "From his point of view, Susie belongs with a family that loves her, not a mother who handed her over to someone else. He sees Jenny's refusal to back him as a massive betrayal, and he doesn't want to be with someone who isn't on the same page as him."

When Johnny issues Jenny with a shocking ultimatum – support him or they're over – will Jenny decide to cave in to his demands?

Lachlan kills again?

HE'LL DO ANYTHING TO KEEP BELLE CLOSE...

Killer Lachlan prepares to claim his fourth victim this week, as Belle threatens to leave him for a new life in London – and he takes drastic action to stop her plans.

Belle is offered a fantastic work opportunity that would mean relocating to the capital for a year, leaving Lachlan in Emmerdale. He's incensed to discover she's considering accepting the dream role – so when he spies a chance to prevent it happening, and keep Belle close, Lachlan readies himself to kill once more!

"Every terrible thing Lachlan has done is because he's desperate to keep Belle," says our Dales snitch. "Chrissie and Lawrence were trying to take him to Australia, so he killed them. Gerry had information that would put Lachlan behind bars and force Belle to leave him, so he murdered again.

After all of that, he thought they were solid – but now there's another obstacle standing in their way, and Lachlan is going to remove it. Offering Belle this chance could be the last thing his latest victim ever does."

The victim in question is an investor called Freddy, who is impressed with craft-beer entrepreneur Belle and the Whingles product. Together, she and Priya work hard to get him interested in backing their venture, and Freddy thinks it could be a great partnership. He's also keen to help Belle develop her skills by offering her a one-year placement in his London office.

Priya tells the gobsmacked Dingle that she can't pass up such an amazing career opportunity, and so Belle asks Freddy if business partner Lachlan could get a position too. However, Freddy isn't interested in them both, just Belle, leaving her boyfriend stuck on the sidelines.

But while Lachlan initially supports Belle's decision to take the role, he soon tracks down Freddy to tell him that it's not going to happen, causing an almighty row. With Belle adamant she's not missing out, Lachlan has to find another way to deal with Freddy – and it's not Freddy is keen on the Whingles product – but less keen on Lachlan!

Lachlan has no intention of letting Belle leave his side

BABY BELLE?

Eden Taylor-Draper tells us if her alter ego will live nappy ever after...

The couple's false-alarm pregnancy forced them to get serious – but are babies on the horizon for Belle and Lachlan? We asked star Eden-Taylor Draper, who plays Belle, what she thinks...

Is Belle at all suspicious of killer Lachlan?

No, she's oblivious! Belle was so focused on her 'pregnancy' when Lachy killed Gerry that she didn't know what he was doing.

Did she want his baby when she thought that she was pregnant?

The timing was terrible, but deep down she was over the moon to find out she was pregnant – it was something that she and Lachlan wanted.

Belle isn't keen to try for another baby, though – would you like her to get pregnant?

Yeah, I think it would be something different and interesting for her and Lachlan at this point. Oh, and it'd also be cool to have a fake bump!

going to be pretty.
“Lachlan spots Freddy driving off alone, so he starts his car, ready to follow him,” shares our insider. “The trouble is, Priya has blagged a lift from Lachlan as she's got drunk and needs to be taken home. Although it's dangerous to pursue Freddy when tipsy Priya is passed out in the car, this is Lachlan's only chance – so he follows the unsuspecting fella, and gets ready to kill again!”

As Lachlan grabs a rock and sneaks up behind his target, it looks as if it's game over for Freddy. Is he about to meet his maker – and will Priya finally realise the type of person Lachlan is?

Max and Rainie have a plan to gain custody of Abi Jr

EASTENDERS | BBC1 MONDAY

“You’ve got some nerve, Max!”

CARMEL GIVES HER EX SHORT SHRIFT WHEN HE HITS HER UP FOR A FAVOUR...

Desperate Max begs Carmel for help getting custody of baby Abi this week – but will his angry ex even give him the time of day?

It’s clear Max is willing to do anything to gain full-time care of his granddaughter, including marrying his former sister-in-law Rainie to prove that he can provide a stable home! However, when it comes to obtaining character references to support his custody bid, scheming Max discovers that he may have burned too many bridges in the Square...

“Given that he doesn’t have one friend in Walford, finding someone to be a character reference could prove tricky for Max!” chuckles our EastEnders insider. “And Rainie isn’t that much more popular. This is a gruesome twosome that most people on the Square are keen to give a wide berth – so they have little chance of finding someone to support them!”

Max’s first target is Masood – and after assisting with little Harley, he hits up his neighbour for a reference. However, once he consults with his Aunt Mariam, Masood is forced to tell Max that he can’t help him, leaving Max back at square one.

Next on his list is Karen Taylor, who’s so desperate for money that she agrees to aid Max in return for £200. But just when Max thinks he has it in the bag, he lets slip what the reference is for – and disgusted Karen storms off, making it clear that no amount of money in the world could persuade her to help Max with this play!

With time running out to find someone, frantic Max turns to the worst possible person for a lifeline – his ex-girlfriend, Carmel! Given that he lied and cheated before publicly humiliating her, Carmel is understandably furious that Max has the gall to even approach her.

“Max ripped out Carmel’s heart and stomped all over it – why on earth would she ever want to give him a hand?” splutters our mole. “She’s still grieving for her son Shakil, and Max’s worries are the last thing on her mind. The fact he has the brass neck to beg a favour

“Carmel is still grieving for Shakil – Max is the last thing on her mind”

It's the last chance saloon for Max

Double TROUBLE!

As their devious plotting continues, will Rainie and Max be pushed together – or further apart?

"Well, they hate each other, so there's no chance of them getting with one another properly!" laughs Jake Wood, who plays Max. "Max is only after her for what she can give him. He's playing with fire, though, and may have underestimated Rainie..."

But Jake insists Max's scheming is justified – in his own head at least!

"He wants to be a good dad," says the star. "He does have a good side – and a bad side!"

at this terrible time is astounding – and Carmel doesn't hold back when she rails at Max!"

As her and Max's meeting with the social worker looms, Rainie suggests there's only one person left who he could ask – Stacey! She's stood by her old lover through thick and thin, but their recent dalliance almost cost Stacey her marriage.

Can she find it in herself to do one last favour for desperate Max? Or has he lost all hope of ever having his granddaughter in his life?

David leans on the support of pal Billy in his bid to stop Josh

DAVID HUNTS DOWN JOSH!

He'll do whatever it takes to stop his rapist striking again...

Vicar Billy takes a snap of Josh and his potential victim

It looks as though vile Josh will target a new rape victim – but not if David has anything to do with it!

These new pictures of actor Ryan Clayton – who plays Josh – filming on location show his evil alter ego out for a drink with a random bloke, who is potentially in danger of being drugged and attacked by Josh, just like David was. But help appears to be close by in the form of David and vicar Billy, who are watching Josh from a car outside...

“Josh has been arrested and let go by the police, as there is no evidence to support David’s allegation,” our Corrie source reminds us. “He’s fully aware that people are on to him now, though he’s still cocky enough to think that he’s got away with it – and David just can’t bear the thought. If the police are powerless to stop Josh, he will do his best to find a way.”

After reporting Josh to the law and sharing his terrible ordeal with his family, David has turned a corner and is now defiant in the face of his attacker. However, we know from speaking to Coronation Street boss Kate Oates that Josh is unlikely to be brought to justice through the legal system – as, unfortunately, the chances of such an evil predator being convicted in real life are slim when there is no proof. So is David planning on dishing out his own brand of punishment after trailing Josh to a bar, and potentially catching him in the act?

“David’s plan can’t be too extreme as he is with Billy, who is attempting to get back on the straight and narrow following his own troubles this past year,” points out our mole. “From the look of these snaps, Billy is taking pictures of Josh and his unsuspecting victim in a bid to collate some evidence. There's also a photograph of him talking to the guy Josh is out with, perhaps trying to warn him of the danger that he is in."

Can David and Billy do enough to keep Josh from striking again? Or are they helpless to stop him?

Is Billy warning this fella to steer clear of evil Josh?

JACK LOSES A LEG?

Kevin must make an agonising choice about his little boy...

Parents up and down the country will soon be left heartbroken for Weatherfield's Kevin Webster, when his seven-year-old son Jack is struck down with life-threatening sepsis.

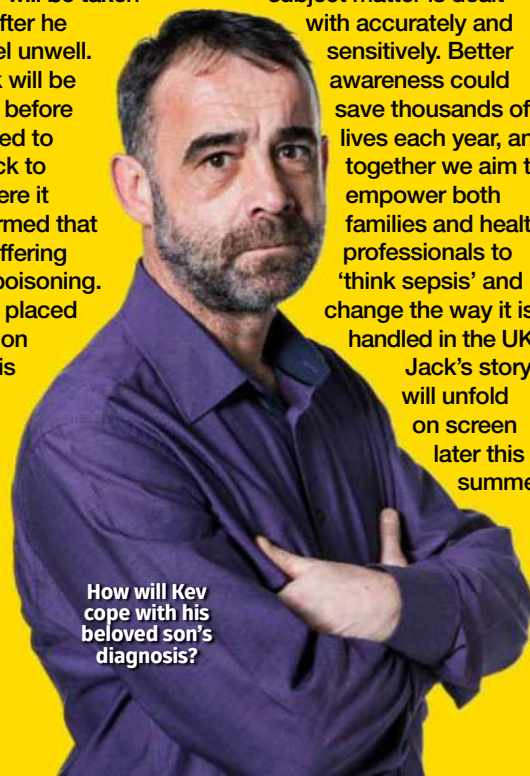

The lad is set to get a cut on his knee during a game of football, and will be taken to hospital after he begins to feel unwell. Initially, Jack will be sent home – before Kevin is forced to rush him back to hospital, where it will be confirmed that his boy is suffering from blood poisoning.

As Jack is placed under sedation to support his organs, will Kevin be left with no choice but to amputate Jack's leg in order to save his son's life?

"Stories like Jack's are all-too familiar, and remind us of the devastating human cost of sepsis," says UK Sepsis Trust chief executive Dr Ron Daniels BEM. "We have been working closely with the Coronation Street writers and technical team to ensure that the subject matter is dealt with accurately and sensitively. Better awareness could save thousands of lives each year, and together we aim to empower both families and health professionals to 'think sepsis' and change the way it is handled in the UK."

Jack's story will unfold on screen later this summer.

Moira with her daughter, Hannah, back in 2011

An intruder at the farm hides a secret

MOIRA STALKED – BY HER TRANSGENDER SON!

As a familiar face spies on the farm, a family drama unfolds...

Moira is in for the mother of all shocks – when her daughter Hannah returns, and reveals she is now living as a man called Matty having undergone gender reassignment while away from the village.

This week, viewers will realise someone is spying on Moira and Cain, but the sinister stalker's identity will be kept under wraps until next week, when Cain punches an intruder at the farm. However, Moira instantly recognises Matty as the daughter she knew as Hannah.

But how will Moira feel about having a son? And what are the challenges ahead as mother and child try to rebuild their relationship, after so long apart?

"Matty knows how to make an impact: Cheeky, effervescent, quick-witted and headstrong, it's not long before he's charmed his way into the affections of all those who meet him," shares Dales producer Kate Brooks.

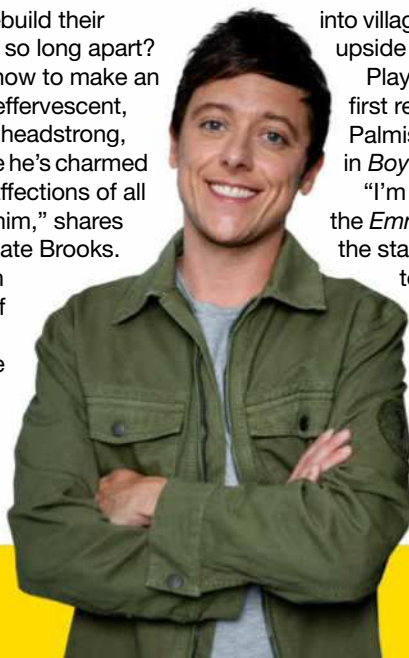

"His tale of a man trying to shake off his past and find acceptance in the present is full of emotion, humour and ultimately hope, as he settles back into village life, turning Moira's world upside down in the process."

Playing Matty is Emmerdale's first regular trans actor, Ash Palmisciano, who has appeared in Boy Meets Girl and Mum.

"I'm very excited to be joining the Emmerdale family," enthuses the star. "From nervous auditions to now working alongside the team daily has been truly amazing. Matty is a groundbreaking character to play, and I can't wait to see what's ahead for him."

Matty will first appear at the end of June.

Daz in the frame!

FURIOUS DAN THINKS HIS BROTHER MAY HAVE KIDNAPPED AMELIA...

EMMERDALE | ITV TUESDAY

Dan attacks his brother in an effort to get to the truth

The search for Amelia takes a shocking turn this week, as the lass' biological father Daz is arrested in connection with her disappearance!

Dan and Kerry are horrified to discover the police have evidence linking their little girl's abduction to Daz, the man who only recently learned he was her dad, not her uncle. Although he protests his innocence, things don't look good for Daz. Is he capable of such a terrible thing?

"You make a few mistakes as a kid and all of a sudden, people start pointing the finger at you," jokes Mark Jordan, who plays Daz. "There's such intrigue as to why the police have an interest in him, and we learn a lot more about him. There was something he was involved in back in his past that may have a big implication on Amelia being missing."

We know that Daz has led a pretty troubled life, living on the streets and being involved in petty crime, but we didn't know how dark it had got. When Daz emerges from being interviewed, he's met with fury from Kerry and Dan. They accuse him of taking Amelia and lying about it all this time – accusations that provoke Daz to storm out. It looks as if the truce between the brothers is well and truly broken.

"Kerry and Bernice have made so much effort to get the siblings to put the past behind them and to look to the future," muses Mark. "But Amelia's paternity and disappearance have made that very difficult. It's like a game of snakes and ladders, and now the family has slid down into turmoil."

While Daz is maintaining his innocence, Dan is determined to get answers out of his brother one way or another. When the police fail to charge Daz, the furious fella confronts him with a wrench and threatens to beat the truth out of him. As the two men square up, Daz makes a confession that could change everything, and Dan is forced to face the truth about his brother. "There's a lot more to come about how Daz got himself in such a pickle," promises Mark. "In the search for Amelia, people will realise he's less of a buffoon and more of a survivor with instincts, and he's a bit more street smart. It's very upsetting, and there will be a lot of emotions coming out." Dan and Kerry just want Amelia home safely – but given how long she's been gone and the revelations about Daz's past, is that too much to hope for?

ARE MARIA AND AUDREY HEADING FOR A FIGHT?

Maria finds herself looking to the future this week, after events at the salon put her nose out of joint. But what does she have in mind – and who might she upset as she forges ahead?

With Audrey having been tied up with family dramas of late, Beth clocks how much Maria has done around the salon and comments that she seems to be running the place. Seeing as she's only paid to work as a stylist, Maria suddenly has food for thought, and is forced to face the fact that she's finding it difficult to cope.

"While it's true that Audrey has said that she treats Maria like a daughter, these days she seems to be treating her more like a slave!" laughs our Corrie insider. "Maria has been too busy to notice, and has such loyalty to the salon and to her boss and friend that she's barely realised how much she's struggled lately. Although she normally doesn't mind, Maria will soon get another wake-up call..."

When Audrey eventually does show up at the salon, the largely absent owner reveals to Maria that she's increasing the rate for the flat she rents upstairs! So Maria is not only working overtime – she's also out of pocket!

"Maria's left thinking about her position," says our spy. "Remember, she's a really good hairdresser and knows the place inside out. Plus, she once worked at the factory as Carla's assistant, helping to pull in a big-money deal – so she has a good brain in that perfectly coiffured head. While Maria forms a plan, Audrey may rue the day that she ever took her for granted!"

Charlie's gift from beyond the grave!

HAYLEY SPOTS AN OPPORTUNITY WHEN THE SLATER DAD'S OLD CAB IS RETURNED TO THE FAMILY...

The Slater clan have a pleasant surprise this week, when Charlie's old black cab trundles back into their lives. Could the motor be the answer to all their money troubles?

The gift horse turns up in the form of a mysterious package at No 31. Hayley rips apart the envelope and finds a key, leaving everyone baffled – yet it soon becomes clear that it's for the taxi that Charlie Slater used to drive. Since Charlie's death in 2016, the cab has been looked after by one of his pals, but it's finally been returned to his family.

Hayley soon spots the vehicle's potential value, and thinks that if she can get it up and running again, it could fetch a fair bit of cash! Aside from Jean, the Slaters are doubtful – though when Hayley finds out from Keanu that the cab could be worth £10,000, she heads to the Arches to see if she can find the tools needed to get it working.

"Hayley certainly has a bit of nous about her," reckons our EastEnders sneak. "She tries to distract Keanu by flirting with him, so she can pinch his tools as soon as his back is turned. Unfortunately, Phil turns up at the wrong moment – and insults her in the process! Hayley is humiliated, but she still manages to make off with her ill-gotten gains when Phil and Keanu aren't looking. She's on a mission to prove all the sceptics wrong, and nothing will stop her!"

Later, Keanu visits Hayley to apologise for Phil's boorish behaviour, and for not jumping to her defence when he had the chance. Although Hayley is quick to send him packing, she feels a twinge of guilt about stealing from the garage, especially as she realises Keanu is a genuinely nice guy.

"Maybe if she hadn't been so fixated on being a tea leaf, something good could have developed between these two," sighs our mole. "But after Phil tells Keanu that the dough for the tools is coming out of his wages unless he replaces them, Hayley feels even more ashamed. It shows that she's a typical Slater – she acts first and thinks later!"

Hayley puts her conscience to one side, though, when she manages to get the cab operating again. Pleased with her handiwork, she sneakily advertises it online. But her family are shocked as they

WHERE TO THEN, DARLIN'?

MO

She'll take you the long way while adding a cheeky surcharge for everything – opening the window, closing the window, breathing. You name it, she'll pop a quid-and-a-half on the meter!

JEAN

Jean will be one of those chatty cabbies you always get just when you're not in the mood. She'll make no profit – as every passenger will terminate the journey halfway through just to get away from her incessant twittering.

STACEY

The other end of the scale, Stacey will never want to chat – she'll take the route she wants to take, not the route you ask her to, then give you a mouthful if you don't tip her enough. Service with a scowl, guaranteed!

HAYLEY

This girl is good. She'll give you the ultimate sob story about her life as she drives you along. By the time you get out, you'll feel so sorry for her, you'll be tipping her a fortune – and she'll be quids in!

Hayley rolls up her sleeves and gets to work – but what will her relatives think?

spot the ad and realise what game Hayley is playing.

"Big Mo must be kicking herself that she didn't have the idea first!" chuckles our spy. "Hayley thinks she can pay back the money that's owed to Jean, and pocket the rest of the cash for herself. Clever girl!"

However, when Jean finds an old photo of the family with Charlie's cab, she points out that the vehicle has great sentimental value, and perhaps should be kept. The Slaters are torn. What's more important – memories or money?

Alya rants about being so busy – while Sarah sees an opportunity

Sarah stitched up!

SHE JUMPS AT THE CHANCE TO BE ALYA'S PERSONAL ASSISTANT – BUT WILL SHE REGRET HER DECISION?

CORONATION STREET | ITV THURSDAY

New Underworld boss Alya realises she's out of her depth this week, and signs up Sarah as her PA. But with the factory owner struggling to win over her staff, Sarah's in for a tough time from the assembled knicker stitchers!

From the moment that she became the shock beneficiary of Aidan's will, Alya has had problems getting to grips with her new role. Realising she has an uphill struggle on her hands, she lets slip to Gary and Sarah that she thinks she's bitten off more than she can chew.

"Sarah's ears prick right up when she hears about Alya's woes," reveals our Corrie spy.

"Ever since she's returned to Weatherfield three years ago, she's been stuck behind the bar at the Rovers Return, and she knows she could be doing a whole lot better – remember, when she was in Milan for all those years, we're told Sarah ran a whole fashion business! So when Alya mentions she's not really coping, Sarah spots an opportunity and hands her CV to the factory boss, hoping to be made Alya's new PA. Keen to relieve her workload, Alya takes Sarah up on the idea!"

"The factory staff don't like being taken for granted!"

Not long after, Alya introduces Sarah to the factory girls as her new personal assistant. However, the girls are far from happy! They point out that if there's a position on offer, they should all have an opportunity to apply – it's not fair simply to give it to an outsider. Alya realises that they might have a valid point from a legal perspective – however it puts her in a tricky position now she's already given the gig to Sarah!

"Alya has really managed to get off on the wrong foot with her employees," sighs our mole. "She's already faced a mass walkout when she sacked Fiz. They've all been working at the factory a darn sight longer than Alya's been around, and they don't like being taken for granted! Alya realises she's in a pickle, and so concocts a devious plot. She spends the rest of the day treating Sarah like a slave, hoping it will put off all the other girls from wanting the job. It's a pretty risky strategy, though – because it's just as likely to make Sarah quit!"

With Alya already in the doghouse with her troops, is she making matters worse?

Pulling the wool over her eyes!

SIENNA TRIES SOME MOTHER-DAUGHTER BONDING WITH NICO, BUT HER PLAN UNRAVELS WITH DEADLY CONSEQUENCES...

S ienna is under huge pressure to keep secret Nico's return to the village this week, but little does she know what her twisted killer of a daughter has up her sleeve – quite literally!

Sienna is trying to keep the pregnant youngster hidden from anyone who might know her, so she can have her baby in peace and the trio can be a family together. Sienna thinks she can sell Warren's flat and raise the funds for a new start – but Nico isn't taking kindly to being locked up by her mum.

"Sienna is repeating her own twisted history with her dad Patrick – keeping a pregnant daughter locked up at home!" our Hollyoaks insider reminds us. "At least her intentions are good. However, she's well aware of what Nico is capable of, so she also has to try to keep her distracted. But in doing so, she's about to make a terrible mistake..."

Nico – who isn't taking her incarceration lightly – is still obsessed with old pal Peri's new friendship with Harley.

She's already tried to kill the newcomer once, so Sienna is hoping to keep her unstable daughter's focus on other things. But is teaching her to knit really the best solution?

"Sienna's never been one to come up with conventional answers," laughs our mole. "Perhaps she thinks they'll finally bond as mother and daughter, while knitting hats and booties together for the little one? But while Nico pretends to go along with her mum's idea, the cogs are turning in her twisted mind."

Sienna's good intentions go awry when she leaves Nico alone in the room. The cunning teen wastes no time in hiding one of the knitting needles up her sleeve – giving her a useful tool... or a deadly weapon! It's not long before the devious girl uses the hidden implement

A locked bedroom won't stop Nico – she'll take her vengeance!"

NAPPY FAMILIES!

Could Nico and Sienna finally find happiness?

As the birth of Nico's baby approaches, actress Anna Passey, aka Sienna, reveals that there's high drama to come – and perhaps, finally, some peace between mother and daughter?

"The birth doesn't all go to plan," teases Anna. "But there are some quite sweet scenes between Nico and Sienna. I love them together – they are such an unconventional mother-daughter combo."

But while the pair may find some common ground as Nico faces motherhood, it wouldn't be Hollyoaks if there wasn't further trouble ahead.

"We've had the story of Nico coming back, and Warren taking the baby and everything," Anna reminds us. "I think people believe that's all over – but we're only in the middle of it. Viewers don't realise how much more there is to come..."

to try to break out of the bedroom and set about taking her wicked revenge on Peri.

"Nico's already proved that she's capable of cold-blooded murder, so there's no way a locked bedroom will keep her in," whispers our spy. "You can be sure that she'll find a way to take her vengeance!"

Meanwhile, Peri is unaware that her old friend is still alive – never mind plotting against her and Harley. She's busy dealing with the embarrassment of working at Damon's film night in a tacky usherette costume – leaving Nico free to catch the pair totally off-guard if she does escape Sienna.

"Viewers will no doubt be on the edge of their seats when Nico's plan is finally revealed," explains our contact. "There's deadly danger ahead for someone – and a dash to the hospital before it's too late!"

It sounds as if Nico's reign of terror is far from over, but can Sienna stop her wayward daughter before she kills again?

Brenda strikes with a cabbage quick-fire...

EMMERDALE | ITV THURSDAY

...while Laurel reacts with a counter-attack of carrots

Laurel & Brenda's food fight!

THEY FLING VEG AT EACH OTHER AS LAUREL ACCUSES BRENDA OF MAKING A PLAY FOR HER DAD...

Woe betide anyone who tries to get in the way of these ladies!

Bickering Laurel and Brenda resume their battle this week, but this time it's not just insults being flung by the pair – it's a whole week's worth of veggies!

Relations have been extremely frosty between the two women ever since Bob and Brenda called time on their short-lived marriage and Bob moved in with Laurel with indecent haste. Jealous Brenda has been holding a grudge against the loved-up couple, forcing Bob to insist that his kids move out of Brenda's home to instead live with him and Laurel. However, as the week's events begin, ironically it looks as if the love rivals could actually be turning a corner...

"Initially, it seems as though the three of them are starting to behave like grown-ups at long last," confirms our Dales spy. "Of course, Brenda is still really sore about the break-up with Bob, but even she accepts that if she keeps battling her ex and his new lover, then it's only going to make things more upsetting for the kids. Heath and Cathy are at a very impressionable age, and it's up to the adults to set a good example. They agree that everything will be kept amicable – though how long do you think that will last?"

The answer is: not very long at all! After Laurel realises

"Beans have been spilled in more ways than one..."

something has gone on between her dad Doug and Brenda, the warring women are soon at each other's throats outside the B&B, using whatever comes to hand – which just happens to be carrots, cabbages, courgettes, cucumbers and cauliflowers!

"What an embarrassing sight," groans our sneak. "It's a furious food feud! Laurel gets wind of the fact that her father and Brenda have become close – and while it's true that Doug has been spending time with Brenda since his relationship with Diane entered choppy waters, suspicious Laurel reckons that Brenda has deliberately got involved with her dad just to get her own back! Now the secret's out, the beans have been spilled in more ways than one."

As the two women fling abuse and groceries at one another, Bob tries to intervene – yet not surprisingly, he's the last person in the world to be a calming influence on the pair. Doug also pleads with the two women to put down the veg, but to no avail.

When the police eventually arrive on the scene, will the ladies finally agree to call it quits and turn over a new leaf?

Tom Spilsbury

There's catfight chaos – but who will prevail?

SLAP HAPPY!

We've waited a while for this...

Brenda may have delivered some killer verbal blows, but viewers have had to wait to see scorned Brenda finally lay into Laurel properly.

When she walloped her cheating hubby Bob back in May, Brenda fans were delighted. "GO ON BRENDA – slap him for all of us!" tweeted one fan. But will Brenda come out on top, as this week's veggie violence erupts? Or will Laurel end up reigning supreme?

Will Mick join Stuart's crusade?

HE'S UNEASY WHEN STUART ASKS HIM TO HELP TRACK DOWN SEXUAL PREDATORS...

Mick is put in a difficult position this week, when his old friend Stuart asks for his help in hunting down paedophiles!

The shock request comes soon after Mick suspected Stuart himself of being a sexual predator, when he discovered incriminating messages and photographs on his pal's phone, implying that Stuart had been in contact with underage girls. Having feared the worst of his mate, Mick is relieved to find out that Stuart isn't an abuser after all – instead, he hunts them!

“Stuart gives Mick a lecture about how long they've known each other, and questions how he could ever have had any doubts about him,” explains our Albert Square insider. “Mick feels awful about having had such ghastly suspicions about Stuart – but to be fair to him, the evidence did look very incriminating. And given how much boisterous Stuart loves winding up Mick, you're never quite sure what to think! Plagued by guilt, Mick is desperate to do anything in order to make it up to Stuart, but he might regret making that offer...”

In the café, Stuart informs Mick about his next mission. He tells him about how he's on the trail of an abuser, but he needs Mick's help to pull off the sting. Mick is extremely uneasy about the request, yet he feels pressured into going along with Stuart's plan.

“Mick really isn't sure this is a good idea at all,” warns our spy. “He rightly feels that this is the sort of thing that's best left to the authorities, and he doesn't want to get into these murky waters. But Stuart tries to calm Mick's nerves by reassuring him that he's not a vigilante, and he isn't out to use violence. He just wants to confront these scumbags with hard evidence of their crimes. Mick still isn't sure it's a wise thing to be doing, though he reluctantly finds himself talked

STEVE GETS CAUGHT UP IN THE ANTICS OF SEB'S MUM - AS SHE TRIES TO HIDE HER HEARTACHE...

There's trouble at Eileen's house this week, as devastated Abi hits the bottle to drown her sorrows – and poor Steve is manhandled by her lairy mates!

The mayhem begins after Abi is told she has a long way to go before social services let her regain custody of her twins, despite her recent efforts. It's a big blow to Abi, who's been coming up with all kinds of ways to convince the authorities she's a fit mother. But once she's on her latest bender, trouble starts as her wayward friends arrive and the party is interrupted by Steve.

"It's bedlam and Steve is caught up in the madness, whether he likes it or not," says our Corrie insider. "It's a room full of raucous laughter – though inside, Abi's heart is breaking. She doesn't know any other way to cope, but this is the sort of behaviour that led to the twins being removed from her care in the first place. If she's not careful, she'll find herself back at square one."

That's a shame, because Abi has been making big leaps forward and has impressed those around her. Son Seb is proud to see his mum drug-free and working hard in her new job at the garage. Kevin and Tyrone like having Abi around, and they think she's a grafter. But when Abi comes up with a plan to make herself seem more respectable, she puts her job on the line.

No Hope for Fiz?

A REUNION WITH TYRONE SEEMS UNLIKELY...

There's misery for Fiz this week, as Hope causes more trouble for her and Tyrone.

Now that she's decided to try to reunite with Ty, Fiz plans a surprise date night for her and her estranged partner. It's been tough for Fiz to put aside her fears about Tyrone forming a bond with Abi to give their relationship another go – so it's a real knockout blow as Hope's devious meddling leaves her and Tyrone further apart than ever before.

Hope's wickedness begins when she tells Tyrone that her mummy has a date that night, and neglects to mention to her daddy that he's who she plans to meet. Hurt that Fiz appears to be moving on, Tyrone decides to accept an invitation from Abi to go out together after all. The truth is that Ty doesn't want to be with Abi and is keen to patch things

When Fiz discovers that Abi has bagged a date with her man, she's gutted. It proves to her that her suspicions about their close bond and Tyrone fancying Abi were true – and she's now frightened that the wayward woman will become part of the lives of her kids.

If Fiz and Tyrone spoke to each other honestly, this could all be resolved so quickly – but with Hope as the former couple's go-between, do they stand a chance of making it work?

her appear more stable," our source tells us. "She's looking for someone who is steady and respectable – the sort of family man who'd get a thumbs-up from social services. It doesn't really matter what she thinks of him, just that he looks the part. So she asks Tyrone out – and he eventually says, 'Yes!'"

Things get awkward, however, when Seb lets slip that Abi's motivations for the date are nothing to do with liking Tyrone. The whole thing quickly turns into a disaster, and Abi is forced to apologise to Ty for the awful evening and hope he's still willing to work with her. After that embarrassing situation, Abi faces more misery when social services pay her a visit and explain that the process of getting back the twins will involve a lot more time and effort from her.

MODEL CITIZENS

Corrie's Rosie and Gemma should have their own crime-fighting spin-off show – they could be the new Cagney and Lacey! I was in hysterics watching them trying to bring down drug dealer Antoine – I think it was more fluke than anything else that they managed to catch him.

LIVE AND LET LIV

Emmerdale's Liv has come back home with a much more sensible head on her shoulders, which she needs now that she's having to cope with the trauma of Gerry – her good mate – dying. So I hope that Gabby steps up and shows sense as well, and does not draw Liv into any more trouble.

📍 | Sylvia

Gabby will have Aaron and Robert to answer to if she tries to lead Liv astray again!

CLEANING UP

I bought a well-known cleaning product from my supermarket and rubbed it all over my television. But I was very disappointed to find

Emmerdale has never shied away from tackling white collar crime that EastEnders' Max Branning and DI Bails from Emmerdale could still be seen on my box, as the product was guaranteed 'to remove all soap scum'.

📍 | Colin, London

It'll take more than a bit of elbow grease to get rid of Max Branning for good!

KILLER THEORY

Am I the only Hollyoaks fan who is thinking that Sami will actually end up murdering Kyle for real to frame James? I hope I'm wrong about it, as I'm starting to like Kyle and James' relationship – I would hate for James to be sent down, as I love watching him!

📍 | Claire

But don't forget that James is a lawyer – surely he could talk himself out of any false charges!

DEAN, NOT HEARD

I feel really sorry for poor Dean in Home and Away. He puts on this tough front as part of the River Boys gang, but I can see that deep down he's a real softie who's truly in love with Willow. It's just a shame that she's using him to get over Justin!

📍 | Layci

Dean should just forget Willow and work more on his bromance with Colby.

KIRK'S A BERK

Poor Kirk in Corrie – he must be the doziest fella in soap! How can he not see that his dog-walking client Sharon is just waiting to get her claws into him? I know he spends more time with pooches than he does with humans, but surely even he can see that she's one dog biscuit short of a picnic!

👉 | Joanie

Who would have thought that Kirk would turn out to be the unlikely sex symbol of the Street?

SPEAK OUT, ALICIA

Bravo to Casualty for its rape storyline involving Eddie and Alicia. Sadly this happens way too often, and just because you agree to go home with someone, it doesn't mean you're consenting to have sex with them. I hope Alicia finds the courage to speak to someone about what Eddie did to her.

👉 | Geraldine

She needs to confide in Bea – I think she'd help her through it!

EX FACTOR

I can't believe Sonia in EastEnders made out that Martin and Stacey getting back together was a bad idea because it would upset Bex.

Clearly she was just jealous!

👉 | Sandy

Sadly for Sonia, I reckon that ship has well and truly sailed!

DESPAIR FOR THE DINGLES

It's been a heartbreaking week for Chas as she dealt with the news that her baby won't survive, while Charity finally came face to face with her secret son. But both these ladies are born survivors...

I can't decide who's given the best performance this week in Emmerdale. Emma Atkins, as Charity dealt with the pain of having to admit to her son Ryan how he came into the world. Or Lucy Pargeter, as Chas desperately tried to come to terms with the fact that her baby won't survive.

👉 | Daniel, Rochester

I've really enjoyed seeing the more vulnerable side of Charity these past few weeks, and I hope we will continue to see it as this story plays out. Now that she has found her son, I'd love for the two to get to know each other properly. I realise it will be a difficult road for them, but I think they need each other.

👉 | Christine

Charity's son Ryan is such a breath of fresh air. James Moore is a great actor, and

I can't wait to see more scenes between mother and son. They are so much alike.

👉 | Zoe

But it's not just Charity who's been dealing with some life-changing news...

I get that finding out about her baby's condition must be traumatic for Chas, but why hasn't she told Paddy yet? He deserves to know!

👉 | Meera

What's happened to Chas and Paddy's baby is so sad. And just when they thought they would finally get to be parents together! Why can't the scriptwriters just let them both be happy for once?

👉 | Jon

This is Emmerdale – people can't be happy for too long!

It was great seeing Nigel Havers back in Corrie as naughty Lewis Archer, but is it the last we've seen of him? I know Rula Lenska is coming back as Claudia soon, so might Lewis be returning with her?

THE BIG
interview

“Kerry is trying to stay positive – but deep down, she’s really scared”

Emmerdale’s Laura Norton joins Inside Soap for a debrief on how Kerry and the Spencers are dealing with Amelia’s disappearance...

“It’s really interesting that the Spencers have been chosen to do this storyline,” muses Emmerdale star Laura Norton – aka Kerry – as we probe her on how she feels about being involved in such a distressing plot. “Playing the comedy stuff is brilliant, and it does suit our family. But people go through awful experiences, and that’s what makes the characters three-dimensional. It’s very exciting to be able to show a different side to my character, something a bit darker.”

Things are about as dark as they can get for the Spencers at the moment – with Amelia still missing, and Dan suspecting that Daz has something to do with it! So is the clan on the verge of being torn apart completely? Not if Kerry can help it, says Laura...

How is Kerry dealing with Amelia being missing?

This girl has become like a daughter, so it’s the worst thing. Kerry is shocked, unsettled, and very disturbed. Her life has changed since Amelia went missing, and she’s upset. Also, deep down, she’s really frightened. Just the thought of this little person being out there in the big, wide world – obviously Kerry spent a lot of her youth on her own, so she knows how terrifying it can be. She’s trying hard to remain positive, but she’s actually really scared.

How is this situation affecting her relationship with Dan?

Like any traumatic event within a relationship, it puts a massive strain on things. They’re dealing with it differently – Dan is negative, and he’s looking for someone to blame. Yet Kerry can’t let herself go to that place – she refuses to accept that something bad might have happened to Amelia.

The police take Daz in for questioning this week (see p16) regarding Amelia’s disappearance. How does Kerry react to that?

She’s absolutely gutted. She feels responsible – she was the one who encouraged Daz back into their lives, so she desperately wants to believe that he had nothing to do with it. That’s too much to think about, her family would fall apart. But Daz is acting shifty, and Kerry is a very astute woman, so she can see something is not quite right.

How will Kerry cope if the worst does happen?

There’s only so much strength that somebody can have. It’s been exhausting for Kerry trying to hold the family together – she wants to make sure that Dan’s all right and not suspicious of Daz, and she’s trying to keep Daz and Bernice together. At some point, something has to give.

THE BIG interview

This has been an amazing turning point for Kerry, because in times of tragedy she would normally fall apart and hit the bottle. So I think if the worst-case scenario did come about, that's when we would see her self-destruct.

This has been the toughest ordeal the Spencers have ever been through, and there looks to be no ending to their misery this week. Thankfully, things couldn't be more different off screen – as Laura tells us that this plot has brought her co-stars closer together...

What's it been like to play out such intense scenes with the rest of the Spencer family?

It's been amazing – we all get on so well. We spend a lot of time together outside of work. We do our homework together, we talk about the scenes, and feel free to give each other notes. We've worked together for so long that we can say things to each other without taking offence.

Liam Fox (Dan) has been your on-screen love interest for five years, and you're in a real-life relationship with Mark Jordon, who plays Daz. But which of them is the naughtiest on set?

Mark! And I'm not just saying that because I know him on a different level. Liam is always in the zone, he never lets himself laugh too much during scenes. But Mark is clumsy – we call him Frank Spencer because he's always knocking things over! There was a scene recently where the boys were having a fight, and as they went to leave the house, part of the set fell down on them both! Things like that happen on a regular basis.

You have fun on set, but how do you switch off from the emotional scenes when you get home?

It's tough. There was a day recently where we had 15 scenes to do in the Spencer house, and they were all quite emotional. By the end of it, I couldn't see straight! I usually go home and put on Netflix. Mark and I will watch something with a similar sort of story so we can get ideas of how to play things.

On a lighter note, would you like to become an official part of the Spencer family?

Yes! Obviously the big, fat gypsy wedding we had was amazing. But Kerry and Dan have been through so much that I'd love to see them have a wedding that's different – subdued and intimate. So hopefully if they come through this Amelia situation in a positive way, that could be next...

Sarah Ellis

Down to clown: Kerry's co-star (and real-life partner) is very clumsy behind the scenes

Laura's FAMOUS FIVE

The actress dishes the dirt on her co-stars...

"James Hooton [Sam] is one of the best actors I've ever met.

I was so in awe when I first met him. I didn't know who he was because he was so different to his character!"

1

"Dominic Brunt, who plays Paddy, makes me laugh every time I watch him on set. I think he's brilliant – but I do giggle whenever we have a scene together!"

"I'd love to work more with Charlotte Bellamy.

I just think that Laurel and Kerry are such opposite characters, so I reckon that would be a really interesting dynamic."

3

"Chelsea Halfpenny, [aka Kerry's daughter Amy] is one of my best friends – so I miss working with her. But we keep in touch loads, and I did a charity show with her recently."

4

"I've loved watching Daisy [Campbell, who plays Amelia] blossoming with this storyline, and getting the chance to shine. She's professional and polite. She has the skills, man!"

10 totally true FACTS about... Jake Wood

YOUR InsideSoap BRIEFING ON THE MAN BEHIND EASTENDERS' MAX...

1 Jake Dylan Wood was born in London on 12 July 1972 to his English father John and French mother Joelle. Jake seemed destined for television success, making his small-screen debut at the age of 12, in a 1984 episode of crime drama The Gentle Touch. He trained at the Anna Scher Drama School in Islington, before notching up an impressive list of TV appearances in shows as diverse as Dramarama, London's Burning, Only Fools And Horses, Inspector Morse, One Foot In The Grave and Press Gang. And he was still just a teenager!

2 Jake made his Walford debut as slippery Max Branning in June 2006, when the car salesman turned up in Albert Square to confront his estranged dad Jim. In the 12 years since then, Max has got divorced, married twice more, embarked on numerous affairs (notably with his son's wife Stacey), been run over by his daughter, been buried alive by his wife, been wrongly convicted of murder, seen three of his children fall off the roof of the Queen Vic, attempted suicide, and declared war on the whole of Walford. But he's always managed to bounce back!

4 As Max, Jake plays the uncle of Bianca, portrayed by Patsy Palmer – but the pair briefly starred alongside each other as brother and sister, in a 1992 advert for British Telecom. Back in the day, Jake also appeared in memorable adverts for Super Noodles and Yellow Pages – sporting a full head of curly hair!

3 Thankfully, real life has been a lot more peaceful for Jake. He married wife Alison in 2001, and the couple have two kids – Amber, age 13, and 10-year-old Buster. To celebrate 23 years since their first meeting, Jake and Alison renewed their wedding vows last year in front of 220 of their friends. Jake said of their strong marriage: "We obviously love each other a lot, but also we've always wanted the same things. Alison means the world to me, and I'm looking forward to the next 23 years."

5 Back in 1999, Jake was a crew member on board Red Dwarf! He played psychopathic prison inmate Kill Crazy in four episodes of the cult BBC2 sitcom – and was sent on a suicide mission with Lister, Rimmer, Cat and Kryten to take out a Tyrannosaurus Rex. We'll always love him for this line: "Right in front of me was this weird sort-of mutant thing, with two heads and all these tentacles. It took one look at me and ran off!"

6 Arsenal fan Jake is a keen footballer himself, and is regularly involved in celebrity matches. In fact, Jake takes his personal fitness incredibly seriously – and also enjoys boxing, going to the gym, and marathon running. Back in 2007, he took part in the BUPA Great North Run, alongside fellow EastEnders Charlie Brooks (Janine Butcher), and managed to complete the 13.1-mile course in under two hours.

8 Between 1988 and 1996, Jake managed to clock up an impressive five appearances in The Bill – playing five different characters! The police must have got fed up with arresting him. Mind you, it wasn't just the Met who saw a lot of Jake – during the same period, he also had three different roles in Casualty!

9 One series Jake would love to be in is ITV2 sitcom Plebs – which he reckons is the funniest show on TV right now. Fellow EastEnders Danny Dyer (Mick) got to play a gladiator a few years back, but we'd love to see Jake don a toga!

7 One of Jake's most unusual roles has been playing a cockney gecko! For more than a decade, Jake provided the voice of the animated mascot for US insurance company GEICO, encouraging customers to save up to 15 per cent on the car insurance. However, in 2015, Jake was replaced as the voice of the loveable lizard. "GEICO sacked me because I refused a huge pay cut. Nice, huh?" explained the peeved star on Twitter. Fans demanded that Jake be reinstated, but sadly, it was to no avail.

10 Max might be nicknamed 'the Ginger Ferret' by Martin Fowler, but Jake himself has quite a following of fans who love his looks. In fact, Jake has managed to bag himself the 'Weird Crush' award three years in a row from readers of Heat magazine. On winning his hat-trick, Jake quipped: "If I keep winning this, you might feel sorry enough to upgrade me from 'Weird Crush' to just 'crush'!". He has competition, though – Ben Champriss (aka EastEnders' Shrimpy) was snapping at his heels in second place last year!

Hot love now:
Passions run high for Bernie and Serena when they're reunited

HOLBY CITY | BBC1 WEDNESDAY

*"Bernie and Serena are still
MADLY IN LOVE!"

BUT WILL THEY SAIL INTO THE SUNSET
TOGETHER? CATHERINE RUSSELL INVITES US
ABOARD THE 'BERENA' LOVE BOAT, AS THE PAIR STEER TO A DECISION ON THEIR FUTURE...

It started with a kiss... and now Holby's Bernie and Serena are one of the most 'shipped' couples on television. However, fans of the pair have endured a fair bit of separation anxiety as a result of stars Jemma Redgrave and Catherine Russell both taking breaks from the show. So now the smitten surgeons are firmly within snogging distance again, what does their future hold? Catherine Russell, who plays Serena, teases us with the juicy details...

Was it fun reuniting with Jemma to revisit Berena's romance?

Absolutely! Jemma and I have worked together for two years and it's always a treat to play opposite somebody who inspires you to be better than you are. I hope she feels the same, and yes, I've loved having her back.

Has the separation had a negative impact on their romance, or do you think it's made them stronger?

They've had to cope with a long-distance relationship, which is extremely difficult to maintain no matter how strongly you feel or what age you are. It has been a struggle, but no, I think they are still completely and utterly madly in love with each other.

Serena's original plan was to return to Nairobi with Bernie, but have her priorities shifted since then?

Yes, although I'm not sure how aware of that she is until Bernie turns up and says, "C'mon girl, let's go"! Serena's nephew Jason is about to have a baby with Greta, and if you bear in mind where his character began – needing full time care – to have him in that situation without any help, or so Serena thinks, is a bit untenable really.

Greta gives birth this week, so does that sway Serena's decision whether to leave with Bernie or not?

I don't want to give too much away, but this episode is all about Serena coming to terms with her priorities. Going to work and live in a different country from your only remaining family is a big call for her – so will she go? Who knows? Well, I do! I don't think we're quite finished with this story yet...

As Jemma is only back for a brief spell, will we be pleased with how things turn out for Berena?

The thing is, we're just actors and we have other jobs and commitments. I know that people are understandably worried about the idea that it's going to be squashed and killed off because it is a lesbian storyline. But I did it last year, I took my nine months off (my choice), went back into the theatre, went travelling (my choice), and I took some time out. And this time, Jemma is back in the theatre, and that's her choice. So am I happy with the way the storyline goes? Well, yes, I think the show copes with actors wanting to go away and come back extremely cleverly.

It's great that Jemma was able to make the time to return.

Yes, and we are all extremely aware of how important representation is, and feel a huge responsibility to the fans and the support that they've given us. We do care about them!

We all remember that amazing first kiss you shared. Can we expect more passion from this episode?

Absolutely, there are a fair few snogs!

Having taken a long break, where do you see your future with Holby?

Well, that break was after five solid years, so I don't think it's my turn. I'll be there a little bit longer before I ask for another one!

You're quite vocal on Twitter about your local train service...

My nickname for Thameslink trains is Satan, so whenever I tap 'Satan' into my phone, Thameslink automatically comes up! They are appalling!

Are people alert enough in the morning to recognise you?

Sometimes, although people are so used to seeing me wearing Serena's shirts and sporting a now-grey quiff, that they miss me struggling on to the train bleary eyed with bed hair. The worst thing is, if another passenger falls ill, and I momentarily think that I can help with the situation, I have to tell myself that I'm not really a doctor!

Laura-Jayne Tyler

Baby love: Will Serena's nephew Jason give her a reason to stay?

Miss POPULAR!

Bernie has competition for Serena...

Flirty Fleur Fanshawe steps in as Holby's resident obstetrician this week, and once again makes no secret of the fact that she fancies Serena!

So could Bernie have a very serious rival for her girlfriend's affections? "At the moment Serena's commitment to Bernie is strong," insists Catherine. "But hey, anyone would be susceptible to the lovely Debbie Chazen [who plays Fleur]. I think if she were persistent, and Bernie was nowhere to be seen... well, who knows?"

Are things looking up?: Let's hope for a happy ending!

Mysterious GIRL!

CORRIE NEWCOMER MOLLIE WINNARD ADMITS THAT KAYLA COULD BE TROUBLE...

Then I just started crying!" admits new Corrie star Mollie Winnard, about the exciting moment when she discovered that she'd scooped the role of rookie Speed Daal waitress Kayla. "It was a really big cry-fest – but they were good tears!"

While it's no wonder Mollie was overwhelmed when she found out she was about to join the cast of one of Britain's biggest shows, it's not yet known whether Kayla's new friends and neighbours on the cobbles will be so thrilled by her presence – as she continues to integrate herself into people's lives. But Mollie admits that her mysterious alter ego may start to reveal her true colours, when she heads out on a date with unsuspecting Craig this week...

"Kayla has a hidden agenda," teases the 21-year-old, as we grill her for more details about her character. "During the date, it becomes apparent that she's more interested in Bethany than Craig. Craig is nervous and out of his comfort zone, and the way Kayla interrogates him puts him on edge. Kayla gets the hump about it, when in fact the date has gone exactly the way she wanted it – she has it bang on!"

Sneaky Kayla has given every impression that she's smitten with Craig, after she laid eyes on him while he and Bethany were enjoying dinner in Speed Daal a few weeks back. In spite of her own romantic feelings for Craig, Bethany has earned her wing-woman stripes by finally getting the pair together – but are she and Craig set to rue the day they got involved with Kayla?

"Kayla plans on getting close to Craig and Bethany," reveals Mollie, who has also appeared in the BBC drama series Love, Lies And Records. "She wants to learn more about the relationship they share because she knows there's more to it than meets the eye, and the only way for her to do that is to be closer to Craig. By driving a wedge between him and Bethany, Kayla can then get the information she needs."

The way that Kayla grills Craig puts him on edge – he's nervous

Why Kayla is so keen on coming between the teenagers remains to be seen, but recent rumours suggest the young girl has a connection to Neil Clifton – Craig's former police boss, who is currently serving a prison sentence alongside fellow abuser Nathan Curtis for the sexual exploitation of Bethany. Mollie can't say if those rumours are true – but does admit she's had to be adept at keeping Corrie secrets from day one.

"I was at work when I found out about this job, and it was just me and another lad in the office at the time," shares the star. "So there I was crying, and he kept saying, 'What's wrong?', but I was like, 'Nothing, nothing – I can't tell you what's going on!' I had to go outside and ring my mum, and then she was in tears too."

While Kayla sets out to cause trouble for Bethany and Craig, Mollie is happy to tell us that she's been having a whale of a time working alongside Lucy Fallon and Colson Smith, who play them.

"It's so lovely," she grins. "When I got the part, Lucy messaged to congratulate me, which I thought was really nice – because straight away, it made me feel much more relaxed about going to work at Coronation Street. Everyone on the show has been so nice and welcoming – and Colson is hilarious!"

Allison Jones

Take note: Kayla isn't interested in Craig and Bethany's order – but rather the more intricate details of their lives

Tinkering with his heart: Craig will be crushed when he inevitably learns that Kayla is using him

SECRETS & LIES!

Kayla isn't the first person to arrive on the Street with a hidden agenda...

ROSEMARY

When we met her, Rosemary had some messages for Audrey and Gail from their dead friends and family. However, it transpired that she was on the rob with sly Lewis Archer!

STELLA

Stella's reason for pitching up on the Street may not have been sinister, but it was no less shocking – as it was revealed that she was the birth mother of Leanne Battersby!

ED

He seemed like a normal church-goer – yet Ed was one of the men responsible for killing Emily's husband Ernest almost 30 years before seeking forgiveness.

“Ollie thinks Buster is his role model...”

HOLLYOAKS STAR
AEDAN DUCKWORTH
TELLS US ABOUT OLLIE’S HARROWING ABUSE PLOT...

Landing your first proper job is always a nerve-wracking prospect – but imagine if that job was working on Hollyoaks! Teenager Aedan Duckworth has been playing Luke Morgan’s son Ollie since January, and he admits that joining the soap has been quite a steep learning curve for him...

“It’s been absolutely terrifying!” he chuckles, as we sit down for our first proper chat with him since he joined the cast. “It’s been a roller-coaster ride. Sometimes I’ll have a really tough scene, and I’ll be worrying about it the week before. Then when I do it, somehow I do all right – and I’m on a massive high for the rest of the day. It’s amazing!”

And there are certainly a lot of intense and emotional scenes on the horizon for young Aedan, whose character Ollie will suffer abuse at the hands of his twisted football coach, Buster. However, the star reveals that he knew from the start what his first big role on telly would involve.

“I found out at the audition, so I knew what I was signing up for,” he tells us. “It’s definitely a big responsibility, I’ve got to do it right for the people who’ve been through it themselves. But it’s such a gift to come in and have a storyline like this, instead of having little bits here and there.

Banana man: When Luke turns up drunk, he embarrasses Ollie

Ollie’s initial reaction is pure shock, so he decides to quit the team

It's great to be given such a huge, powerful plot, and I couldn't be happier."

While viewers know that Buster also subjected his son's best mate, Brody, to abuse when he was a teenager, Ollie has so far remained oblivious to what his football coach is really like. But he's about to find out, as Buster makes his move this week.

"Up to this point, Ollie thinks Buster is brilliant – he thinks he's his ticket to the Premier League," explains Aedan. "He trusts him 100 per cent – he's a role model, and in some ways is a better dad than Ollie's own father, Luke. That's why what happens next will be difficult to watch."

After turning to Buster for support as his dad starts drinking again, Ollie is shocked when his football coach crosses the line. The teenager is obviously really distressed by what's happened, but sadly there's nobody he can confide in about the incident.

"Ollie's initial reaction is pure shock," sighs Aedan. "Then afterwards, as he starts to come to terms with what's happened, he decides to quit the team. His dad is putting a lot of pressure on him to do well on the football field, though, so that doesn't help things."

"It would be very hard for Ollie to talk to his dad about what's happened, especially with all the ups and downs they've had," he adds. "Whenever Ollie has a problem, he normally goes to Buster. So if it's a problem with Buster, who does he go to?"

Poor Ollie may be struggling for support right now, though thankfully Aedan himself has had no such worries.

"I hang out with all the younger cast, because when you're around a lot of adults, it can be quite daunting," he admits. "Both Gary [Lucy, who plays Luke] and Sarah [Jayne Dunn, aka Mandy] have helped me out massively as well. But everyone here is just so lovely that there's no point in getting worried about things!"

NEIGHBOURS | Channel 5 WEDNESDAY

Like father,
LIKE SON!

Neighbours star Tim Kano reckons Leo could be the next Paul Robinson...

Leo takes the law into his own hands this week, as he finds out that some creep has leaked a sex tape of his ex, Mishti! But as star Tim Kano, who plays Leo, explains, things don't quite go to plan...

How does Leo feel when he discovers what Dilhan's done?

Leo's furious! It's a horrible act, and a huge breach of trust and privacy. Worse still, he can't believe that Dilhan is out on bail. That's when the true Robinson mind kicks into play, and Leo starts to consider strategies to put Dilhan in his place.

What does he decide to do?

Leo hatches a plan to provoke Dilhan to attack him, so he will breach his bail conditions. Unfortunately the plan goes askew when Dilhan catches on to his ruse – and then they're interrupted by Ned, who has returned to Erinsborough.

Does Leo still have strong feelings for Mishti?

He'll always have feelings for her. He thinks there's definitely a chance for them in the future, once she has overcome her insecurities with trust and is ready to move forward. There's a nice balance between them, and they keep each other grounded.

Would you like Leo to become as villainous as his dad, Paul?

Absolutely! Deep down Leo really does idolise Paul, he likes how cunning and vindictive he is in the way he operates. But the big difference between Leo and Paul is that Leo has a conscience!

The Neighbours cast all seem really close at the moment...

We are – every weekend we'll be going out for drinks or to the movies, or going on a road trip. We recently caught up with Felix [Mallard, who played Ben] and got to hear how well he's doing in LA. It's really exciting – and it's nice to know there's a little Neighbours community out there if I ever fancy making the move!

Gripping stuff: Leo concocts a risky plot to get Dilhan to breach his bail conditions

The next BAD THING!

With Phelan gone, we ponder who'll inherit his crown to become soap's next supervillain...

LACHLAN WHITE EMMERDALE

The warning signs...

The residents of Emmerdale village have long been wary of Lachy – and with good reason. The fella was just a teenager when he assaulted Alicia Metcalfe and was placed on the sex offender register.

Dastardly deeds...

Lachlan has always blamed others for his own issues. His feud with his family – as well as his enemy Robert Sugden – was destined to end badly. He deliberately drove a car into the path of a lorry, killing his mum and grandfather. When Lachy's pal Gerry found out the truth, he underestimated the danger he was in – and before long, disturbed Lachlan silenced his 'mate' for good.

Dark destiny... It's clear that Lachlan will go to any lengths to keep his killer secret – so it's those closest to him who we fear for most. Inside Soap is betting on a couple more victims before justice catches up with him!

Phelan factor: 5

Dastardly deeds...

When Nico's psycho Uncle Will attempted to kill her, she pushed him to his death in self-defence. She claimed that bumping off her step-sister Carly Bradley was an accident too, after she whacked her to stop her attacking her mum.

Dark destiny... Smothering her grandad Patrick was no mistake – nor was killing Trevor Royle! Meanwhile, Nico recently returned from the 'dead' and tried to murder her mum!

Phelan factor: 4

NICO BLAKE HOLLYOAKS

The warning signs...

Nico's mother Sienna has always been a sandwich short of a picnic – and the apple hasn't fallen far from the tree! Mind you, anyone who came about as a result of 'twincest' is bound to be a little bit messed up...

HUNTER OWEN

EASTENDERS

The warning signs...

Just like his ashtray-wielding, woman-clobbering, killer for a dad Steve Owen, pretty boy Hunter has the face of an angel. But hiding behind that slick barnet and baby-blue eyes is a master-manipulator...

Dastardly deeds...

Hunter blamed Phil for causing Steve's deadly car crash. So in return for being cruelly robbed of his dad, Hunter stole Phil's daughter's virginity – and arranged it so that Louise's dad could watch the pair of them go at it on CCTV.

Dark destiny... It doesn't matter that his father buried a woman in Epping Forest and pinned the murder on a boy just a few years older than Hunter. He'll continue to hero-worship Steve – and no other man will ever be good enough for his mum, Mel. All we'll say is: Watch your back, Jack Branning...

Phelan factor: 2

PROFESSOR JOHN GASKELL

HOLBY CITY

The warning signs...

The so-called miracle worker came to Holby with a reputation to uphold, and proved his worth by saving Jac's life. But any doc who resorts to packing a woman's gunshot wound with Tampax is someone who likes to live life on the edge.

Dastardly deeds... After Gaskell's pioneering stem-cell treatment led to the death of one of his trial patients in the UK, the medic kept quiet and let his colleagues believe she died from a post-operative infection. Meanwhile, John's other guinea pig, patient X, is secretly being kept alive by machines having succumbed to the perils of his operation...

Dark destiny... Rather than confess his implant is deadly, Gaskell is persisting with it – determined for it to succeed. But if a co-worker learned the truth, just how far would he go to silence them?

Phelan factor: 4

SIMON BARLOW

CORRIE

The warning signs...

Being raised by a revolving door of mums and dads has made Simon a mixed-up kid. Feeling he's the only one he can count on, little Si has grown into an embittered teen, whose moral conscience is slowly slipping away...

Dastardly deeds...

He has his dad Peter's temper, as was proved when he began hitting mum Leanne, before attacking a football opponent. While he seemed regretful, Si has since found a sense of belonging with a local gang – even mugging Audrey! Also, he has been stealing cash and blackmailing stepmum Toyah.

Dark destiny...

With an auntie like Tracy, Si has badness in his blood – but even she wasn't this bad at his age! With Toyah's baby lie set to shatter his family, it seems as though Si will be heading further off the rails!

Phelan factor: 3

RYAN CLAYTON

Corrie's Josh Tucker

...faces your questions!

Hot on the heels of Weatherfield villain Josh being grilled by the police, his much nicer real-life alter ego Ryan faces your questions...

"What has the reaction from the public been like since David reported Josh for rape?"

I imagine there were a few celebrations – bottles of champagne may have been opened by some Corrie fans! Generally, if people see me out and about they will make a joke with me, and it's all in good humour. The viewers just want Josh to be caught and get his comeuppance!

"Where is the most bizarre place you've ever been recognised?"

I went to Thailand recently with Qasim Akhtar [Ryan's ex-

Corrie co-star, who played Zeedan]. I'd been talking about going away, and Qas had been giving me tips as he'd been before – and just ended up coming with me. I think once people saw us together, they thought it was a case of the Corrie lads on tour! We climbed 1,237 steps to see a temple just as the sun was setting, which was cool, and there was a bloke from Bury who recognised us at an elephant sanctuary!

"Did you know that Josh was going to be a nasty guy when you auditioned for the part?"

Yes, I knew from the start that it was going to be a male-rape storyline, but I didn't know that it was happening to David Platt. When I found that out, it just added a whole other layer to it in terms of how big the story was going to be. I'd grown up with Coronation Street on in the house and knew all of the classic characters, so it was a bit daunting coming in to do a screen test with Jack [P Shepherd, who plays David].

"Has anyone in the cast given you advice on playing a soap baddy?"

Connor McIntyre, who played Phelan, was really helpful. He said, "You will have a timeline on you, and while other characters have their own worlds in Coronation Street, and those worlds intertwine, you have to play a whole different genre within the Street and focus on that". It was good advice.

"What has been the most challenging scene to play since joining Coronation Street?"

The aftermath of the rape has been difficult. A few scenes – like the

A moment he'll never forget: The elephant in the room was that these two prefer EastEnders over Corrie

Cobbles confrontation: Shona made it clear to Josh that she knew what he'd done to David one when Shona first confronted him – have riled me, as you just know that Josh is blatantly lying! It's difficult to understand his motivation and why he would do something so awful.

“How do you and Jack get on in real life?”

We've got on from the start. He's easy to get on with – and even though it's a serious storyline, we've had a laugh in between. Jack doesn't take himself too seriously, which I'm sure you know! And you need that when you're dealing with tough stuff – you need to be able to leave it at work.

“Like Josh, are you into boxing?”

Yeah, I've boxed for quite a while actually – I was 11 when I had my first fight! I was also in a play, Gypsy Queen, about two gay boxers, and the timing of that was good as the Corrie casting directors came to watch me. I don't fight outside of work any more, though. I'm not sure that our continuity department would be too happy if I came in with bruises all the time!

“Josh is a mechanic, but are you any good with cars in real life?”

It's funny you ask. I was driving home on the night that my first Corrie episode went out – and realised I had a puncture! Let's just say I needed some help. In my defence, I didn't have the right equipment in the back of my car.

“How do you and Jack [P Shepherd, aka David] get on in real life?”

I didn't have a proper jack with me, so I couldn't even lift the tyre! What were the chances after my first night of playing a mechanic on screen?

“If you could do any other job for just one day, what would you like to do the most?”

I don't think that anyone would employ me, to be honest! I'd have to headline Glastonbury Festival as part of a band – maybe if they were reforming Oasis, and between Noel, Liam and myself we could be a three-way act!

“If you could be best mates with a Corrie character, who would it be?”

...asks reader Holly Brown from Margate

I would have said Schmeichel – Chesney's Great Dane – but he's not in it any more! I always wanted to be best mates with him, even though he was a dog!

Question winner!

“What's next for Josh?”

I think it's important Corrie tells the story as accurately as possible. There are a lot of people who have gone through what David has, and the perpetrator has got away with it – so how does a victim deal with that? There is no evidence and the police don't have anything on Josh, so he is going to get away with it in the legal sense. There is not enough evidence to convict him, unfortunately.

“What would be your dream role after Coronation Street?”

I love playing baddies, and I'd love to go on to a drama – but it all depends on how long the Street will have me!

STORY OF...

OUT OF SOUTH AFRICA

SIR TREVOR McDONALD RETURNS TO THE LOCATION OF HIS HISTORIC INTERVIEW 28 YEARS AGO – AND CONSIDERS WHAT’S CHANGED...

TREVOR McDONALD: RETURN TO SOUTH AFRICA | ITV TUESDAY

Just three days after Nelson Mandela was released from prison in 1990, Sir Trevor McDonald became the first journalist to interview him as a free man – an event that Trevor would later refer to as the highlight of his journalistic career.

When Inside TV sits down with Trevor to chat about a new documentary, in which he returns to South Africa to mark what would have been the 100th birthday of its former President, it's clear that the veteran broadcaster still remembers the time vividly.

"It came with a lot of pressure – knowing that you're doing the first interview with a guy whose name everybody knew, but who hasn't been seen for 27 years," reflects Trevor. "So it was a great challenge, and I was nervous about it! And very much in awe of the reputation of this guy about whom I had read so much.

"My first impression was he was very amiable, but not nervous," he adds. "But I could sense the strangeness for him of being out and interviewed. I don't think he'd seen tiny mics which you buttoned on. It's not very profound, but he did ask what we were doing to his lapels when we put on the microphone!"

One of Trevor's first stops in the documentary is Soweto, the township in Johannesburg where Mandela lived after his release from prison – and Trevor notes that the area still pays homage to its celebrated former resident.

"It was interesting to see how things had moved on – Soweto has changed a lot," he explains. "The place is a bit of a tourist trap now – his former house is almost unrecognisable from what it was. It's now all coach tours and so on."

Mandela's dream was to break down the barriers that had been imposed upon his country by apartheid, and build a greater understanding between people of all races. While great strides have been made, Trevor's visit to a gated community for white South Africans shows that segregation is still an issue in areas of the country.

"People still live separately in a lot of ways – that's why we went to the gated community," he muses. "But those days are gone, they're playing a losing game. It's all over. They still want to perpetuate the idea of a white race – but you've got to find somewhere where the black population is not 80 per cent, and then try there!"

Another inescapable factor of life that Trevor explores is income inequality, and the country's ongoing problems with extreme poverty.

"You hope that as years have passed, it would get better," he sighs. "I still saw some of the same people scraping through rubbish. I suppose one of the great conundrums of political life is that when you give people a vote, a vote equals freedom

“MY FIRST IMPRESSION OF NELSON MANDELA WAS HE WAS VERY AMIABLE”

Legend meets legend: Trevor met the former South African president in 1990

Estate of play: Mataseleng Mogodi shows Trevor around equals prosperity – but that takes longer than we think.”

While Trevor’s visit shows that there remains a lot of work that needs to be done in South Africa to fully realise Mandela’s vision, he is still optimistic for the future.

“It’s going to take time, but they’re on the right road,” he says with enthusiasm. “The hopeful thing for me is that it seems to be a very vigorous democracy. I have a kind of Trevor-philosophical view that you can’t keep people down forever. Otherwise we’ll all just give up!”

The Woman In White was the last drama I got into. I love Jessie Buckley, I think she’s a brilliant actress. My husband and two sons occupy the sofa and I rarely sit down, so I don’t have time to watch much telly! But I did really get into War And Peace and Downton Abbey.

Have I Got News For You

I love Have I Got News For You, but there don’t seem to be many sitcoms on any more. There’s Not Going Out, – I like Lee Mack.

I enjoy Would I Lie To You?, but I think some of the lines in Coronation Street are funnier than any sitcom!

It sounds boring, but I love the news – it’s our world and some of the time you don’t want to hear it! I couldn’t imagine not knowing what’s going on. I do the Six O’Clock, then I switch over to ITV, then I do the Channel 4 News!

The Woman In White

Phantom Thread

Going to the cinema still feels like an occasion – my husband and I often go early on a Saturday morning, then we’ll make a day of it! The last one I saw was Phantom Thread – I really love Daniel Day-Lewis, and it was so sensual in all sorts of ways – I came out of it not knowing what I thought, if it was sad, if it was weird, but I loved it!

I’d love to be on Corrie – even just as one of those people hanging around the bar! It’s so much more than a programme, it brings back memories of my childhood. So being in Corrie would be like joining a big bunch of friends – although I’m sure that they wouldn’t think so!

REEL TALK

BOB MORTIMER AND PAUL WHITEHOUSE EXPLORE THE RECUPERATIVE BENEFITS OF FISHING IN A NEW SIX-PART SERIES...

MORTIMER & WHITEHOUSE: GONE FISHING | BBC2 WEDNESDAY

On the surface, a programme about two men on the cusp of 60 bonding over their mutual health problems doesn't especially sound like unmissable TV – but when those two men are Bob Mortimer and Paul Whitehouse, that rather changes things. As well as both being successful comedians, the pair found out that they have another thing in common: heart disease. After Bob recently underwent a triple bypass, enthusiastic fisherman Paul suggested that a relaxing tour of Britain's finest fishing spots might help his recovery and stop him from nibbling on the cheese...

How did the idea for the show come about?

Paul We're old friends and we both had heart problems. I was a bit more down the line of recovery when I found out about Bob, so I was sort of his designated 'stent buddy' of the comedy world.

Bob It was really nice of you, because I don't go out or anything. Paul knew it would be difficult to get me out and about again, so he used his ruse of fishing!

Paul I thought I might be able to make him be my friend again – because he'd stopped being a friend.

Bob, you do some cooking in the show – did you cook a lot before?

Bob My mum was a cook, and of the four boys that she had, I was the one who helped her cook all the time. I've always cooked – she taught me.

Paul I didn't know that. But at the same time, we thought that we'd be able to knock out a heart-healthy cookbook and rake in the money. Nobody's offered us anything like that – we've got to get better agents, Bob.

The show isn't just about fishing, of course – it's about the both of you and your friendship...

Bob It's tricky – I think that fishing is very dull, watching people catch fish.

Paul It's a very subjective thing. I always say fishing is long periods of boredom interspersed by short, sharp periods of really intense boredom. But one thing we would say about this, whether people like it or not, it's not contrivance. It's not "Do I like trains in India? Yes I do! Brilliant, I'll go and do a show about it with somebody that I don't know very well!" Our one, whether you like it or not, comes out of a genuine shared experience and an old friendship.

DOUBLE VISION

JASON PRIESTLEY CHATS TO US ABOUT LIFE IN FRONT OF - AND BEHIND - THE CAMERA...

Sometimes when Inside TV chats to actors about the show they're promoting, we can tell that they've said the same things over and over all day and that they're a little fatigued.

But when we chat with Jason Priestley about his starring role as private investigator Matt Shade in Canadian comedy-drama Private Eyes, his enthusiasm for the show is still infectious - even after he tells us he's been doing interviews for nearly eight hours...

"Matt is a guy who is very intuitive," says the former Beverly Hills 90210 star. "He likes to be very off-the-cuff and fly by the seat of his pants, and that certainly keeps things lively and makes it a lot of fun for me, and keeps me on my toes!"

It's not just the show itself that Jason is quick to praise, either - he's also really happy that Private Eyes allows its main location of Toronto to be seen on screen playing itself for a change.

"A lot of productions shoot in Toronto, but we're one of the only shows that shoot there and don't pretend it's somewhere else!" he grins. "It really has become like another character in our show."

Eagle-eyed credit watchers (we know you're out there) may have spotted that Jason's been busy directing TV shows, pulling double-duty for Private Eyes.

"I direct a lot of TV - it's predominantly what I do these days," he tells us. "When we go back to work, I'm directing episode six of season three. When you're directing things that you're in, you have to compartmentalise a little bit more. You have to be in the scene with the other actors, but then also be silently judging the whole thing with another part of your brain at the same time!"

How have your diagnoses affected your lives?

Bob It changes your diet a bit, as much as you can. I was very good for about three months, and then you get worse and worse and worse. Cheese. You miss cheese a lot. All those fats, that's a change.

Paul He's fallen off the wagon though, Bob, and gone back to the cheese. Or are you not going to admit it here in front of everyone?

Bob I had a Dairy Lea slice last night! And I've started exercising, which I would never have done before. It's nice for two older fellas to chat about health, because it's all you do when you get older!

Paul We do say in one episode, I turn round to you and go "List your ailments from the toes up" - and what a catalogue of joy it is!

ALL ROUND TO MRS BROWN'S | BBC1 9.10PM

Brown-eyed girl

Things barely get started on this episode of All Round to Mrs Brown's before the laughs kick in – even though they're not necessarily intentional as Cathy and Agnes discuss rabbits. The furry variety, of course, as it turns out that Cathy is searching for a new pet to keep her company...

Mrs Brown and her extended family are joined by special guests former JLS and Saturdays singers Marvin and Rochelle Humes – as well as their mums. Footballer Wayne Bridge shows off his skills and actor Alan Davies pops in for a home-cooked meal. Irish rock band Picture This provide music, and Mrs Brown certainly gets up close and extremely personal with singer Ryan Hennessy. Ooo-er!

BLIND DATE | Channel 5 8.30PM

If you had your doubts about the reboot of Blind Date – and shame on you if so – now's the time to jump on board. Host Paul O'Grady is really making it his own now, not least of all with a brand-new set because he hated the old 'TARDIS one'. There's lots to look forward to – especially episodes that include drag queens and dogs – but this one features Geordie girl Cali who gets to choose from three muscled hunks (some people have all the luck) and Irish boy Barry who brings along his mum. She's not just there for support, however – he's brought his mammy in order to pick his date!

DINNERLADIES | Gold 2.30PM

A truly great sitcom is one that you can watch over and over again – even if you know the jokes so well that you join in with the punchlines. Victoria Wood's canteen-com has definitely stood the test of time, so we're returning for our 3,786th viewing this afternoon. It's Monday, Norman the breadman (he fell off a diving board in Guernsey) has mixed up his crusty bloomers, and Jean needs an accordionist.

HIDDEN | BBC4 9PM

POLDARK | BBC1 9PM

Wrestling for affection

For those keeping score, Ross Poldark is indeed shirtless once again in the second episode of the new series – and being sponged down by Demelza. That's a job we're also available to do, if the BBC are reading. When he's fully clothed, Ross takes on George in a political battle to defend Cornwall. If he wins, everything will change...

Meanwhile, Caroline has happy news to share – well, it's happy for everyone else, but she's not quite so keen. A wrestling match between Tom and Sam is on the agenda – and yes, that means more open shirts as Ross trains Sam in order to win a wager which will benefit the local hospital. If you enjoy seeing lean men with long hair and skinny trousers having a tussle, tune in.

DON'T Miss!

Here we go again...

MAMMA MIA: THE STORY... | Channel 5 9PM

Get ready for a summer of Abba... What do you mean 'again?!' As sure as the arrival of Christmas, and almost as camp, the music of the iconic Eurovision winners will always come back around. In 2018, it's because of the forthcoming cinema sequel to the mammoth movie of 2008, now with added Cher. And yes, it really has been 10 years. This documentary looks at the history of the stage show – now the fifth longest-running West End show in London – and uncovers the history of the jukebox musical by speaking to fans and the writer, Catherine Jenkins.

ATLANTA | Fox 10PM

Here's an interesting dilemma for Atlanta fans at 10pm – do you watch the season one finale on BBC2, or the season two premiere on Fox? We'll assume that you have your own solution for the clash sorted out and carry on as usual: season two takes its name, 'Robbin' Season', from the pre-Christmas period when there's a major increase in the number of robberies in Atlanta. How festive! The action begins with Earn needing somewhere to live...

THE HEART GUY | Drama 8PM

The Aussie medical drama launches straight into its second series tonight, and Hugh faces multiple crises in his professional, family and romantic life. Meanwhile, Charlie is determined to play dirty in order to win back Matt.

NCIS: LOS ANGELES | Sky One 10PM

Tonight's season finale is called 'Ninguna Salida': that's Spanish for 'no exit'. And why is it in Spanish? Well, because the team are heading to Mexico to follow up a new lead on the man who kidnapped Mosley's son five years ago...

LONG LOST FAMILY: WHAT HAPPENED NEXT | ITV 9PM

It's a family affair

Be careful what you wish for, people will often tell you. And many times in the seven-year history of Long Lost Family, we've seen the searches develop in ways that those involved never imagined – but tonight's episode of the revisit series reminds us just how life-changing the surprises can be!

Ray came to the series two years ago, searching for his brother. He ended up with a lot more siblings than he could have expected. Another 11, in fact! Tonight's update follows

Ray as he catches up with two of his new brothers and sisters.

It's a very different story for Marion and James – because they were reunited with their adopted son Simon, it meant that James would end up saving Simon's life.

VERSAILLES | BBC2 9PM

It's a tale as old as time – and still as pertinent as ever today – when the past catches up with Madame de Maintenon and means her place in Versailles could be threatened. And you thought it was just social media that came back to haunt people! It's not going well elsewhere, either. Protests in Paris means that the situation between the citizens and court of Versailles continues to get worse, resulting in danger for Fabien Marchal. There's trouble in store for Louis as well as Cardinal Leto decides to take it upon himself to put him in his place once and for all...

ELEMENTARY | Sky Living 9PM

Sherlock's post-concussion syndrome puts him in a rather awkward situation this week, when he finds himself with no memory of the last six hours – and in possession of a severed head in a bag. His ongoing memory problems mean that he's asked to take a bit of a back seat at work, but he and Joan are still determined to find out whose head it is – and what became of the rest of the body.

LOVE ISLAND | ITV2 9PM

This far ahead of time we have no idea what might be going on in the villa tonight, but we're just going to hope it's time for a big twist. Preferably one so major that it means the estimable Flackers will be arriving to deliver the news...

SNATCHES | BBC4 10PM

These eight monologues airing across the week are all scripted by female writers and inspired by women who have spoken out and made a stand. Tonight's two stories are performed by Romola Garai and Corinne Skinner-Carter.

ACKLEY BRIDGE | Channel 4 8PM

Heart of the community

There's clearly a spark between Kaneez and new biology teacher Rashid, but dating is a very alien world to her as we see tonight when he invites her to a concert. "Are you asking me to come out with you?" she gasps. "In the night time?" But it's an off-hand joke from Emma that finally prompts Kaneez to take control of her life and pay 'other woman' Sandra (Corrie's Vicky Entwistle) a visit. "Kaneez goes in with fire in her belly," reveals Sunetra Sarker, who plays her. "But when they do come face to face, they're a lot softer with each other..."

Meanwhile, 'That Aaron' is driving a wedge between Missy and Nas, and Alya gets the wrong idea when Will gives Chloe a shoulder to cry on.

CONVICTION: MURDER IN SUBURBIA | BBC2 9PM

Regional variations

The fascinating documentary series following Louise Shorter and the Inside Justice team as they investigate potential miscarriages of justice returns for another two-part special, which concludes tomorrow night. The case this time is the abduction and murder of Linda Razzell, which her husband Glyn was convicted of and is currently in prison for. However, Linda's body was never found, and Glyn maintains that he is innocent. Louise believes there are enough question marks hanging over the case to merit further investigation, including a possible link to a multiple murderer from the same area.

THE YORKSHIRE DALES AND THE LAKES | More4 9PM

A second series of real-life stories about those who live and work in and around the Lake District and the Yorkshire Dales National Parks is back. What do you mean that you thought it was just a holiday destination? There's actually around 60,000 people living there, with family dating back generations. If you love rural Britain, you'll enjoy this trip to one of the UK's beauty spots, led by the locals.

THE RESIDENT | Universal 9PM

This episode of the medical drama is called 'And The Nurses Get Screwed', but don't worry – it's not that kind of show. Nic becomes a suspect in the death of Lily, as Bell has to deal with a patient accidentally catching fire.

BULLETPROOF | Sky One 9PM

The final episode of Noel Clarke and Ashley Walters' cop drama has everything but the kitchen sink – a hostage situation, a car chase and a prison breakout. In fact, don't be surprised at all to see a kitchen sink in there too.

BRITAIN'S REFUGEE CHILDREN | Channel 4 10PM

DON'T Miss!

New beginnings

Starting a new life in a different place is intimidating at any time of life, but it's particularly true for the children featured in this documentary – who fled war-torn countries to come to the UK as refugees. Many of them don't speak English yet, and don't even know if they'll be welcome when they get here.

One of the subjects of this documentary, Abdul, at least has the comfort of knowing that his refugee status has been pre-agreed, and that his family will be joining relatives who are already settled in Wales, where local volunteers are ready to help them adapt.

It's a different story for 17-year-old Omar, though: he left Syria to join his brother in Cardiff, but faces an anxious wait to hear if he can stay.

MCDONALD'S: 50 YEARS OF THE BIG MAC | Channel 5 9PM

Regional variations

It's hard to remember a time when McDonald's wasn't a part of almost every town centre, but this one-off doc explores the chain's development from a single restaurant in California to the international burger behemoth it is today. Although the business bears the name of siblings Richard and Maurice McDonald, it was milkshake machine salesman Ray Kroc who saw the potential of their slick and professional operation and convinced them to let him franchise it. But it hasn't all been plain sailing though: the programme also covers a series of controversies that hit McDonalds in the mid-90s...

STATION 19 | Sky Living 10PM

The fire-fighting drama comes to a dramatic conclusion – well, could there be any other kind? And what are the chances, it's a towering inferno in a skyscraper that's set to endanger the men and women of Station 19. As if a building ablaze isn't enough to contend with, it also puts paid to Chief Ripley's interviews for the position of Captain. That's certainly one way to get out of paperwork.

CELEBRITY | ITV2 10PM

Reacquaint yourself with the face of the voice of Love Island tonight, as Iain Stirling returns with a new series of the game show that pits stars with unique abilities against members of the public. Tonight's celebs include Hollyoaks' Jennifer Metcalfe.

TASKMASTER | Dave 9PM

If you've ever wondered how you could use ear wax to charm the ladies, this episode is for you as Russell Howard attempts it. (Also, you need to get out more.) And Liza Tarbuck creates a kids' puzzle that should never be seen by kids.

THE DOUBLE LIFE OF GEORGE MICHAEL | Channel 5 9PM

DON'T Miss!

Watch without prejudice

A documentary about the life of legendary pop star George Michael was inevitable, and this offering from Channel 5 at least attempts to celebrate just how brilliant he was, while also tackling the demons that may have played a part in the world losing him in December 2016. George admitted himself that his life, which was filled with incredible highs, was "self-destructive" and this special programme looks to uncover the cause of his many run-ins with the press during his last decade. Spoiler: he largely hated the press.

Will we ever really know the truth? Probably not. But at least we can enjoy the celebratory side of a doc that looks back over a superstar's extraordinary career.

DON'T Miss!

The enemy within

HUMANS | Channel 4 9PM

Call us crazy, but the more we see of this series, the more convinced we are that we probably don't want a Synth in our house, however helpful they might be with the dusting. It's not just the way that Stanley's 'advanced care package' is picking up on matters that are none of his business (just ask Mattie), it's also the way he genuinely terrifies Laura in tonight's episode while protecting her from anti-Synth activists. But what will Laura do when she cottons on to his secret plot? Meanwhile, Niska continues on her journey in search of The Synth Who Sleeps...

YOUNG SHELTON | E4 8.30PM

After Mary catches Missy reading Cosmopolitan, she's determined to stop the kids from reading age-inappropriate material – and she hits the roof when she flicks through Sheldon's copy of Watchmen and sees Dr Manhattan's naked blue bottom. Outraged, Sheldon demands that his mother treat him more like an adult, and to prove his point, he starts cooking his own dinner and looking for a job.

BROOKLYN NINE-NINE | E4 9PM

Captain Holt is not a man who is renowned for his love of light chat, but tonight Gina and Terry attempt to coach him through his first steps on social media. Meanwhile, a fire at Boyle's food truck heralds the return of a familiar face.

RIO FERDINAND: BEING MUM AND DAD | W 10PM

Here's another chance to see the Bafta award-winning doc in which the former pro footballer discusses the impact of bereavement on him and his three children after his wife Rebecca lost her life to cancer in 2015.

CRUISING WITH JANE McDONALD | Channel 5 9PM

Cruising queen

It's Jane McDonald's world now, and we just live in it. Cruising With Jane McDonald sails on – via a brief stopover to collect a BAFTA – while she continues to record a second series and Christmas edition of Jane McDonald And Friends. That's when she's not out on tour celebrating her 20th anniversary and releasing a fabulous album of all the songs from Cruising so far! We're expecting her to pop up presenting the news on Channel 5 too, soon. Until then, we're content to see her attempt to tango in Argentina and make friends with penguins in the Falklands, as you do. It's the first of a two-part special where Jane takes on South America – well, let's face it, she's already conquered Britain...

THE LAST LEG | Channel 4 10PM

It's hard to believe this satirical news-based comedy series was only ever intended to run alongside the daily 2012 Paralympics coverage. Now the award-winning comedy-slash-talk show returns for a staggering 14th run of nine new episodes. Use the hashtag #isitok for hosts Alex Brooker, Josh Widdicombe and Adam Hills to get their teeth into the news stories of the week via chat, sketches and general sarcasm. They'll be joined by guests from the world of sport, politics and entertainment to dissect the world as we know it – for the last seven days, at least – with a live audience.

NASHVILLE | Sky Living 9PM

All you boot-scootin' babies, fret not – after a brief hiatus, the final series of Nashville looks back up from under its cowboy hat as the last episodes commence their run. Now, don't get upset – you've still got eight full instalments to enjoy. Will's in hospital, worrying about his future, Deacon's been served a restraining order from Brad, Avery's getting unwanted press attention because of Juliette and the lavish lifestyle of Jonah gets to Maddie...

DANIELLE DE NIESE ON THE LOST WORLD... | BBC4 8PM

Danielle de Niese uncovers the stories of five female composers, from back in the middle ages right through until the late 20th century. They were superstars of their day, but have largely been forgotten – watch out, Katy Perry!

LONGMIRE | SUSA 9PM

The modern-day western continues after the – SPOILER ALERT! – death of Lucian in last week's episode. But even in death, he's going to have the last word, leaving a letter behind that could change the course of Walt's life forever...

IN and OUT

We spin soap's revolving door...

OUT AMANDA CLAPHAM

(Holly Cunningham, Hollyoaks)

The fifth actress to play Cindy's daughter Holly is bowing out of the village, as Amanda Clapham leaves the role she's played since 2013. "I feel it's my time to go now," she says. "Holly's been through so much in the past five years and it's been a pleasure to play her. I'm still filming to the end of summer, so my exit will be on screen in or around September. There's some exciting stuff coming up – it will be emotional." September

JESSIE WALLACE (Kat Moon, EastEnders)

IN Fear not! She may be missing from our screens (and from the recent British Soap Awards ceremony), but Jessie Wallace – aka Kat – is coming back to Albert Square soon. Kat is meant to be visiting Alfie and the kids in Spain – so will she return armed with the knowledge that he is Hayley's babydaddy? Next week

JAMES MOORE (Ryan Stocks, Emmerdale)

IN It's not the last we've seen of Ryan, according to acting series producer Kate Brooks. "His journey is jam-packed with laughter, tears, unlikely friendships and with the odd unexpected twist." Summer

LISA HAMMOND (Donna Yates, EastEnders)

OUT Walford's Lisa Hammond has revealed that she's finished filming on the soap – and has dropped a couple of hints about Donna's departure. "Is she going to break Robbie's heart by leaving? Maybe he'll break her heart!" teased the star. "I can't say too much about the exit, but it's going to be great and I really love it." Summer

THE EX FILES!

What are the one-time stars of soap up to now?

RUN OF THE MILLIE!

Thoroughly Modern Millie, the stage production in which ex-Weatherfield actress Hayley Tamaddon (Andrea Beckett) had the starring role, has been cancelled. The show's tour has stopped just halfway through its intended run, with the reason cited as "lower ticket sales than expected, which has put the company producing the play in financial difficulties".

DIABETIC DOMINIC

Ex-Emmerdale star Dominic Power has revealed that he became seriously ill towards the end of his time on the soap, playing bad lad Cameron Murray. After being diagnosed with Type 1 diabetes, the actor collapsed on set. "By that point I didn't even know if I could learn lines," he admitted, "but [producer] Kate Oates, Lucy Pargeter [Chas] and Charley Webb [Debbie] were all supportive, and I got through it. I think my manic performance was probably because I was going slightly insane!"

HOLIDAY HELL!

EastEnders star Shane Richie (Alfie) is reportedly taking legal action against travel company Thomas Cook! The actor is said to have endured the 'holiday from hell' at Mexico's Moon Palace resort, where he encountered loud music, and holidaymakers reserving sunbeds at 5.30am! Sounds like a typical holiday with the Slaters if you ask us...

CINEMA

OCEAN'S 8

It's an all-female lead as Sandra Bullock, Cate Blanchett and Anne Hathaway (to name but a few!) team up in this action adventure. Former convict Debbie Ocean (Bullock) recruits her gang of women to plan a heist in New York – and the target is $150m in diamonds that adorns the neck of world-famous actress Daphne Kluger (Hathaway).

DVD

DARKEST HOUR

As Hitler's army storms across Europe and closes in on Great Britain, it's up to newly elected Prime Minister Winston Churchill (Gary Oldman) whether to negotiate peace or fight against impossible odds. Co-starring Kristin Scott Thomas and Lily James.

AVAILABLE ON DVD, BLU-RAY AND DIGITAL DOWNLOAD NOW

THE CAST by Danielle Steel

After two previous marriages, Kait Whittier prefers to avoid all the complications and uncertainties of a new love. However, following a chance meeting with television producer Zack Winter, everything changes...

STAR CHOICE

Corrie's Louiza Patikas (Moir)

"I would say French series Spiral is my favourite TV show right now. In France they call it Engrenages! I think that it's phenomenal, as it's so gritty and true. Every character is living and breathing, and I'm just completely immersed in it. I'm a complete Francophile anyway, so I fantasise about being in the show all the time!"

TUESDAY
19 JUNE

Locking lips during a recent game of 'spin the bottle' has unexpected consequences for best pals Tiffany and Bernadette next week, as the latter continues to wrestle with her feelings about the incident. Is the Taylor teen struggling with her sexuality? And will Tiff react kindly if Bernie confides in her?

CORRIE

Grand scheme!

Flora may be burying her son next week, but there's unexpected joy in store for her, too. And the good news she receives attracts the attention of Tracy. Why does the bitchy Barlow suddenly act as if butter wouldn't melt?

EMMERDALE

Brotherly love!

They say that behind every good man is a good woman – and that's certainly the case for Ross and Pete Barton! But their behaviour next week might put paid to that...

HITS & MISSES!

WHAT'S HIT THE BULLSEYE RECENTLY – AND WHAT'S FALLEN WIDE OF THE MARK?

We're fascinated to know what Stacey finds so sexy about ravishing fellas in the Queen Vic loos. Does the intoxicating aroma of bleach do it for her? Or is it merely the proximity of such a plentiful supply of Andrex?

Thank you, Corrie, for spotting a gap in the soap market for a pair of sexy brothers, and responding accordingly. The fact that Ryan and Ali hate each other makes it even hotter!

It's so refreshing to see Kim completely dialled-down and vulnerable for a change. It's a lovely rest for our ears, and Tameka Empson does pathos just as brilliantly as she does comedy.

The Hollyoaks episode dealing with poor Alfie's mental breakdown was a total triumph. Congratulations to all concerned.

BULLSEYE!

In the wake of Phelan's bloody shooting spree, Corrie came out all guns blazing with a fabulous week of classic cobbles comedy – anchored by the fantastic return of Nigel Havers. If it were up to us he'd have a job on the Street for life, and Lewis and Audrey would live happily ever after. Or, he could crack on with conning us to his heart's content. We're not fussy!

We were salivating over the amazing spread of cakes that This Morning apparently lays on for its guests. That's commercial telly for you! You wouldn't get that at the BBC.

Ian helping Carmel through her grief was his most unselfish act in years. We really enjoyed their scenes together.

Both of these numbskulls are really starting to test our patience. We wouldn't be surprised if Amelia has ditched them both to live with someone more responsible, like a rabid badger.

Meanwhile, we don't hold out much hope of Amelia being found any time soon with DS Benton on the case. Eight months on, and he still hasn't figured out who killed Emma Barton!

Paddy's painting of local Emmerdale wildlife had us wondering how many fire-breathing dragons he's had up on that vets' table recently.

Ryan and Debbie are brother and sister all right. We'd recognise that hairdo anywhere.

It's June, and these two are still bitching about missing money. Change the record, for mercy's sake!
